Last Sunday morning, Dad and I was having breakfast when we heard a knock in the door. I rushed to open it. There was our neighbor Miss Sophie, who draws picture for children's books. See me at home, Miss Sophie looked very happily. After I invited her to come in, Miss Sophie joined us at the breakfast table, but said to my dad that she would like both of us be her models in one of her books. What a great news! I would finally get to be in a book! I jumped off my chair and run excitedly to give him a big hug.
